“Journalista”*: Mock Journalism on Social issues.

2022-2023

Sociology and Journalism are like both sides of the same coin. “Journalista” was an innovative approach by the Department of Sociology that intends to delve into the various economic, political, environmental, and cultural aspects of the Indian Social reality in a fun way through News anchoring and News reporting. The Department of Sociology organized this unique event in the Department itself on 11th November 2022 at 12 pm.

The students were divided into groups of two members and with their assigned topics which were given by the Department Professors; they presented their topic in relevance to news. In this way, students developed an overall understanding and various dimensions of their syllabus by relating it to the current situations in society.
